Richmond Guest Honored.
At the invitation of Mrs. A. L. Glasgow, a brilliant gathering of Oxford women enjoyed an afternoon party on Wednesday last at the Colonial residence of Mrs. C. D. Ray, on College Street, this being the temporary home of the hostess. The entertainment was given in honor of Mrs. A. R. Broad-love, of Richmond, a guest of Mrs.
Glasgow, who, with Mrs. Glasgow, Mrs.
Ray and the latter's two daughters, Miss Llewellyn and Mrs. Marsh Ray, stood in the reception hall to receive the guests.

Mrs. Glasgow wore dark blue Georgette crepe over taffeta with yellow chrysanthemums, and Mrs. Broadlove wore a gown of cream and blue satin, with pink roses, dahlias and chrysanthemums adorned the reception hall and drawing-rooms.
Dainty score cards assisted the guests in finding their places, where, before the game, refreshments were served. Mrs. Glasgow was assisted in serving her guests by Mrs. Llewellyn and Miss Sallie Webb. There were about forty guests. The highest score was made by Miss Annie Crews, who was presented by the hostess with a pair of silk hose; favors were also presented to the honor guest and to the guest who, after cutting, was the lucky one for consolation. Mrs.
Broadlove has been much entertained during her stay in Oxford, N. C.

Birthday Party.
A delightful birthday party was given on last Monday afternoon from 1 to 6 by Mr. and Mrs. J. H. B. Peay, in honor of their eight-year-old son, James Binford Peay. The halls, parlor and dining-room were beautifully decorated with Halloween colors and numerous potted plants.

For an hour or more the seventeen little guests made merry in pleasant games, at the conclusion of which little Misses Monica Frischkorn and Lydia Griffin were awarded the first and booby prizes. After the games were over the children marched into the dining-room to be served with refreshments, and where the large cake containing eight candles was cut and distributed.

Before leaving the little guests were presented with dainty favors in the form of decorated baskets filled with candies and a miniature bread cake.

Those present were Monica Frisch-korn, Elizabeth McAuley, Lydia Griffin, Elizabeth Wills, Louise Albright, Virginia Rossen, Elizabeth Major, George lecture upon the subject of "Air Craft." At the conclusion of Admiral Webster's talk tea will be served. All members of the club and their friends are invited to be present.

Visitors Entertained.
Misses Evelyn Tyson and Bessie Boyer, of Atlantic City, the guests of Mrs. Mary S. Parker, have been the recipients of much social attention during their Richmond visit. Theatrical box parties, dinners at the Commonwealth Club and the Jefferson Hotel, a Halloween party and an excursion to Old Point have been some of the features of the attention shown them. They will return to Atlantic City Tuesday.

An event of unusual interest was the marriage at 508 North Twenty-sixth Street, yesterday morning, of Mrs.
Annie Booth Faulkner to Thomas Clayton Woodson. The house was decorated with palms and potted plants, lighted with yellow and white candles. Immediately following a musical program, Mrs. G. E. Throop began the processional. Mrs. Booth's wedding march, and the ushers entered. They were Edward E. Faulkner, son of the bride, and James E.
Frazier, a nephew of the bride. The bride entered with Frank W. Booth, a brother. She was dressed in a suit of midnight blue. Her flowers were a shower bouquet of roses and lilies of the valley. They were met in the center of the room by the groom and his best man, J. H. Hokeboom Woodson. The Penny Wise and Pound Foolish

The cost of living makes every woman look to see where she can save money, which, of course, is sensible and proper if not carried too far.

In the case of food it would be foolish to attempt to substitute sawdust for a breakfast food because it is cheaper. Everyone knows sawdust has no food value and its use would be a positive detriment to the health.

Royal Baking Powder, which is made from cream of tartar, adds only healthful qualities to the food.

The difference in cost of a pan of biscuits or of a cake made with Royal Baking Powder as compared with cheap alum or phosphate of lime powders is about one cent, which is surely too small an amount to warrant the risk.

MISS GRESHAM SPEAKS AT THE WOMAN'S CLUB

Discusses Origin of Literature and Illustrates by Fables and Myths of Earliest Times.

Miss Hattie Bell Gresham, who is known throughout the State as a story-teller of much charm, gave a delightful lecture at the Woman's Club yesterday afternoon. The subject was a discussion of the origin of literature, illustrated by fables and myths of the earliest times. It was all about fables and myths and the maxims that have come down through the ages, hoary with antiquity, yet fresh as morning dew in their never-fading appeal to the human race of all times.
Miss Gresham made her talk and told the tales so simply, yet with a quaintness all her own, and the interest of her audience was held throughout by the "once upon a time" of the speaker's voice.

Miss Gresham went into much interesting detail concerning the crude and primitive peoples who long ago lived and built for the literature to-day.
It gave a new light on this journey of man—how wonderful the achievement and how toilsome the ascent. These old civilizations were the fountain head from which have flowed the streams that have fed the world of literature.
To know the present we must know the past. The origin of religion began in myths, when the child-man trembled at the sound of the rushing wind and was awed in the presence of his Deity, embodied in the great forces of nature.
This was the beginning of worship.
As man grew and developed his stories also progressed in strength and power.
The very origin of story-telling was wrought through the medium of teaching.

Any story that lives contains some essential truth and has met some down through the centuries until many of the oldest are our most familiar friends and daily companions. Hundreds of years ago they were chronicled on papyrus in Egypt; ages long since poetized and made immortal by the quill of the Babylonian, and in the days of immemorial antiquity the folk tales were giving their ethics to the world.

Wherever the Aryan race is to be found there also one comes upon the bright trail of idealism and imagination, which is the race's supreme gift to the universe of literature. In seeking back deeper and deeper into the mists of the uncertain beginnings of civilization until the search makes the sphinx and the pyramids and the days of Abraham seem but things of yesterday.

It was an enchanting afternoon.
Miss Gresham concluded her program with an ancient Scandinavian folk song, sung by the maidens of the Northland while mowing wheat.

The school committee of the Ginter Park Woman's Club will meet this afternoon at 4 o'clock in the assembly hall. All the patrons of the school are invited to attend.

Bishop Dennis J. O'Connell will address the Stenographers' Association of Richmond at its regular monthly meeting to be held at 8 o'clock to-night.

Demiprincess Frock in Velvet and Taupe Chiffon

Black velvet and taupe chiffon are associated in a demiprincess frock, which is worn with a black velvet coat trimmed with fur.

An interesting phase of models this season is the combination of velvet and chiffon connected, as it were, by bands of fur or metal embroidery.
The sketch lady is a very interesting example of this sort of gown. It originated in Paris and shows the lower half of the skirt made entirely of black velvet, which serves to lengthen a deep v-neckline of taupe-colored chiffon.
The two are joined by bits of embroidery.
